Gumbrell Named Principal At Carmel High

After a five month search involving over 60 candidates, Arthur J. Gumbrell has been selected to be the new principal of Carmel High School. The Carmel Unified School District Board of Education will formally ratify his employment at the next regularly scheduled board meeting on June 14.

Gumbrell has been in the District this week meeting with Board members, administrators, teachers and students. He will report for duty on July 5.

Doctor Harris Taylor, district superintendent, feels that the "District is fortunate to have employed such a well qualified administrator for this key position."

Gumbrell was born in Illinois and was a resident there until 1955 when he, his wife and three children moved to California.

He attended Northern Illinois University where he received his B.A. with honors; the University of Iowa graduate school in English; the University of Chicago graduate college, Ed. Phil., M.A. honors, and the University of California at Los Angeles, where he received his administrative credentials. His teaching credentials include general secondary (life), secondary administrative and general administrative (eligible).

Gumbrell has had many years of teaching experience and has been in administrative work since 1949. He has served as commandant of cadets, dean and assistant superintendent at a military academy in Illinois. In California he has served as a district principal for San Diego High School, Director of Curriculum and District Superintendent for the same school district, and as an associate director and superintendent of schools in Riverside, California.

Among his other professional distinctions, Gumbrell was the president of the California Association of secondary administrators, Director, California Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, and the Founding Director of the Greater San Diego Council of English Teachers. He was also responsible for the introduction of team teaching in 1960 and taught in-service courses in Linguistics for English teachers of his district.

With his wife and sons who are 20 and 19 and his daughter who is seven, Gumbrell will move to Carmel and take on his new duties on July 5 at Carmel High School.

Carmel has been known for generations for the beautiful cypress trees that line our coast. Carl W. Jones took this picture called "Ghost in Sunset" in 1946. Now that Carmel churches will be ringing their bells on national holidays, it is hoped by many that we will become known as "The Village Where the Bells Ring" as well.

VILLAGE WHERE THE BELLS RING

Everything and everyone must eventually identify itself with someone or something and the Carmel Business Association decided recently to identify themselves with something.

The Association chose the bell, symbolic of the bell hanging in the American Legion Memorial Arch at Ocean and San Carlos which was dedicated to the City by Sir Harry Downie for Carmel's 50th Anniversary.

With the churches in the village ringing their bells on national holidays and the Business Association

CITY COUNCIL SETS SPEED RECORD

History was made last night at the Carmel City Council meeting . . . the councilmen adjourned after less than two hours of deliberation.

The short meeting was probably due to the fact that council members were anxious to get an early start on the 1967-68 budget. In the meeting, the council approved that various city department heads should present recommendations to the Council in regard to their department salary requirements for the coming fiscal year. The recommendations will be submitted to the Council for consideration.

Shortly after the meeting began, Mrs. Gladys Walton, of Walton Inc. on Mission south of 5th, complained to members that there were a number of dead, "rotting" cats around her building. She went on to mention that a neighboring tenant feeds the cats which causes them to come to their area. The cats die and cause a health problem. She pointed out that one dead animal was at the mouth of her ventilation duct and the smell came pouring into her office. Mrs. Walton appealed to the council to do something about this problem. She commended Mayor Grant and the County Animal Control Officer who "were prompt to answer my earlier call about the dead animals."

After consulting the City Attorney the councilmen found there were no rules which apply to this particular case. Therefore, the motion was carried to have the City Attorney and Welfare Commissioner Norberg study and act on this matter.

Many years ago the County named a street 14th Street but the City of Carmel already had a street named 14th. It was brought out by Fire Chief Belvail that the two streets, disconnected by one block, cause delay in emergency situations and therefore recommended the name be changed. The name up for approval was that of the first mayor of Carmel, A. P. Fraser. The councilmen agreed not to be hasty in selecting a name for the street and referred the matter to the committee on administration.

It was announced to the council that the city was awarded highway gas tax money to make improvements on 4th street to the north of the Police Station, amounting to the sum of about $600. (crucial)

The committee adjourned after discussing other less crucial points.

Amateurs-Celebrities Enter Tennis Match

PEBBLE BEACH — Famous personalities from motion pictures, television, sports and journalism are entering the second annual Invitational Celebrity Tennis Tournament at Pebble Beach.

The tournament, under the direction of Tennis Club professional Don Leary, will be held July 1 and 2.

Stars who have already signed up for the event include singer John Gary, movie actors Cornel Wilde and Keith Larson, columnist Herb Caen and writer Paul Fay, author of "The Pleasure of His Company."

From television come such personalities as Jack Ging, star of "Willie and the Yank;" Peter Brown of "Laredo" fame and McDonald Carey of the daytime serial "Days of Our Lives."

Others include cartoonist Lee (Ponytail) Holley, Reed Hadley of the former TV series "Racket Squad" and "Public Defender;" and John Upton, who starred in television's "Broken Arrow" series.

Adding their tennis talents to the field will be such amateur stars as Whitney Reed, formerly the number one player in the United States; Jack Frost, an ex-top tennis; and socialite-tennis ace Sandy Walker, California State runner-up mixed doubles champion.

Box seats and general admission tickets are available, according to Leary, and information concerning tickets can be obtained by calling 624-6055.

Last year's tournament was a sell out both days, and Leary anticipates a repeat this year even with extra boxes and grandstand seats added at the Tennis Club.

"The Subject Was Roses" at Circle

One of the most prize-strewn plays of American theatrical history is coming to the Circle Theatre on June 9—"The Subject Was Roses" presented by the Community Theatre of the Monterey Peninsula.

This drama by Frank D. Gilroy opened in New York late in May, 1964—nearly a month after all the big awards of the season had been allotted, at a time of the year when serious dramas are never brought to the stage. But all the same it was hailed by critics as being the best play of the ending season, and with regrets that it was too late for consideration for the accolades that it deserved.

The accolades came eleven months later. "The Subject Was Roses" was still running—it ran, in fact, for just four days short of two years—and at the end of April, 1965 it was crowned with the Pulitzer Prize, the N. Y. Drama Critics' Circle Award, the Tony Award, the Outer Circle Award, the Aegis Club Award—every prize in the books.

Robert Heater and Gertrude Chappell (John and Nettie) will be starred in this rueful drama of a married couple's latent antagonisms that come to a furious outburst at the return of their son from his Army service.

Gordon Bloyers (Timmy) will play the role of the son whose homecoming is an occasion for outward display of joy and celebration, but which sets his parents into a more-intense-than-ever rivalry for his allegiance. Beneath the surface show of hearty welcome the smoldering tensions of the parents erupt into a revelation of how their long concealed grudges against one another must finally be faced.

This poignant, but often humorous, portrayal of an ordinary family's tribulations is being presented under the direction of Norman McPhee. Derek Lawford and Carol McPhee have set its background with scenery representing a kitchen and a living room in a modestly prosperous Bronx apartment.

Annual Children's Theatre Festival This Weekend At Circle Theatre

A kaleidoscope of children's plays will be on the stage of the Circle Theatre this weekend as the final performances of class productions take place. This end-of-the-year gift by the young people to Community Theatre adults and the Peninsula at large will include two casts of THE GOLDEN GOOSE and another of THE PIED PIPER OF HAMELIN in addition to THE BREMENTOWN MUSICIANS and EARLY SNOW.

The Two casts of THE GOLDEN GOOSE have been touring schools since April, and have performed for the general public.

People disappointed by last week's overflow crowds at the Circle will be able to see the Spring productions as follows:

3 P.M. Sunday

Saturday morning at 10 and again at 11 the famous story of "THE BREMENTOWN MUSICIANS" romps on the stage with 3rd and 4th graders, as the Donkey, the Dog, the Cat and the Rooster decide to sing together for their living after each tells of his narrow escape from the world of men.

On Saturday afternoon at 2 and again at 3, the Senior Group weaves an authentic tale of terror in an ancient tomb, for older youngsters and adults. In a burrow under the earth in first century Britain a chance encounter of Romans, Celts, little people and Saxons bring chilling results in "EARLY SNOW."

All school, scout, church and other groups on the Peninsula are invited free of charge. Community Theatre performers will be remembered by many children for their "Hansel and Gretel" which toured the county in the winter sponsored by the Junior League. These productions also were written and directed by Marcia Gambrell Hovick. For further information call the Announcement Monday of the incorporation of Frohman Productions marked the beginning of full scale theatrical activities originating on the Monterey Peninsula.

This company, with offices at 499 Van Buren Street, Monterey, is a unique agreement in aspiration among five men of notable creative talent to bring full scale film and theatre production to the area in which they have chosen to live.

Sidney Frohman of Carmel Meadows will act as chairman of the board, Dale F. Skillicorn of Carmel Highlands will function as president.

"I'd say this is an ambitious program," a statement directed at Skillicorn at the press meeting Monday night. He replied, "Someone would have done it so we chose to do it... after all, we all live right here."

"One of the firm beliefs upon which Frohman Productions has been founded," Chairman Frohman stated, "is that motion pictures are true art forms and should be made with simplicity and honesty."

"We are starting on the motion picture phase of Frohman Productions with particular emphasis on short, art theatre and television documentary films. One of the greatest and as yet untapped resources for the film company will be educational films and films to be produced on a contract basis," Frohman pointed out.

Already the company has two completed films: A half-hour TV documentary, directed and produced by Skillicorn and filmed by Robert Blaisdel and a short avant garde film called Asterisk, scripted by William Patrick-West and also

Richard R. Wise in Marine Corps
Marine Corporal Richard R. Wise, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Wise of Carmel, is serving with Wing Equipment and Repair Squadron 27, Second Marine Air Wing, Cherry Point, North Carolina. The primary mission of Squadron 27 is to provide motor transport and engineer support for the Marine Aircraft Wing.

James Smith in Play
James B. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde J. Smith, Jr., of Carmel, was the stage manager and technical director of the play "Dark of the Moon" which was presented by George Williams College, Downers Grove, Illinois where he attends school.

James is a graduate of Hollywood High School and is a senior at the college majoring in Social Studies.

filmed by Blaisdel.

Partially filmed is a camera study of nine Erick Barker poems. To be called "The Country of the Mind," it is being shot in actual Big Sur locations and the narration of the poetry will be done by Barker himself. This film has been arranged by Ronald Bostweck and is being filmed by Blaisdel.

At the same time shooting is in progress on a television documentary which traces the development of the Big Sur area through its history to the present.

"There will be no limit, ultimately, to what can be done right here," said Frohman.

Most people, if asked, say they love animals. This is especially true of Carmel and the people who live here. There is a great deal of feeling toward the plight of our four legged friends. This article is a plea from the S.P.C.A. for your help! They are in dire need of support from the community.

The S.P.C.A. is a non-profit organization deriving its entire income from membership and donations, and they receive no financial help from the County or from any of the cities, even though they work seven days a week serving the community and have emergency service available at all times. They do their best to go anywhere in the County where their help is needed, but they do not have adequate financial resources to continue this work!

Of Monterey County's approximately 225,000 population, the S.P.C.A. has only 500 members and most of those at $5 a year. This is less than 1/4 of 1% of the County's population. With expenses of $2,500 a month this is far from adequate to continue the work which the S.P.C.A. is trying to do.

Some of the services offered by the S.P.C.A. are:

- ... Receive all animals brought to the shelter on David Avenue in Pacific Grove, any kind of animal in any condition.
- ... Help locate owners of lost pets.
- ... Place unwanted placeable animals in new homes under a carefully controlled home inspection program.
- ... Seek relief in cruelty or neglect cases - - - by law if necessary.
- ... Rescue any kind of animal from any situation it finds itself in.
- ... Go to the aid of any injured animal, domestic or wild, day or night. They have done an increasing amount of work with wild animals especially during the past distemper epidemic among raccoons in Carmel and Pebble Beach areas.

... Post area with poisoning warnings if animals have been poisoned in the area. Also post signs warning against pet stealing.

... Post signs in areas where animals seem to be most frequently "dumped" telling of the new laws against abandoning an animal.

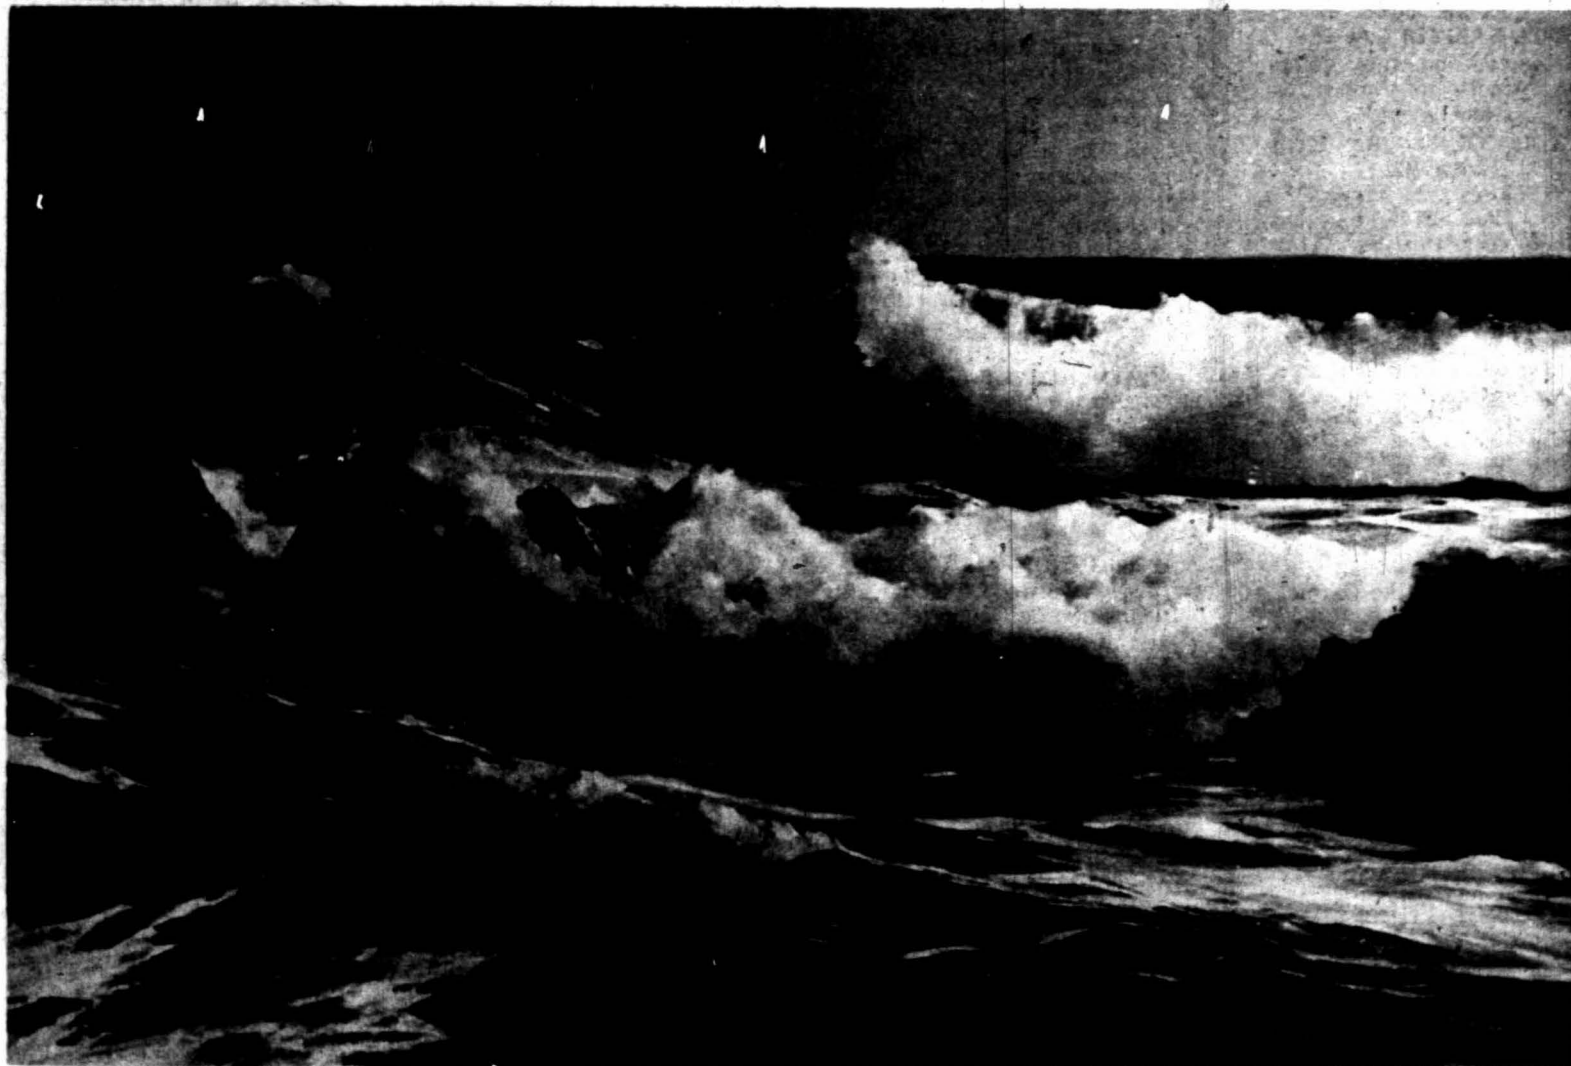

... Transport animals for those who have no transportation—for pets in need of veterinarian attention, for euthanasia or to find a new home.

... Put incurably ill pets to sleep humanely.

The S.P.C.A. is now holding a membership drive called "Operation Snowball." They have a letter ready to be sent to non-members, inviting them to join their organization. This is where you come in. Write the names and addresses of people you know of who might become members—lovers of animals, birds, wildlife, pet-owners and conservationists and send them to the Monterey County S.P.C.A., Box 1335, Monterey. "Operation Snowball" could work. IT MUST, if the S.P.C.A. is to survive!

Three One Man Showings At Carmel Art Association

In conjunction with their monthly one man shows (this month paintings by Ardoth Terrill and Linford Donovan) the Carmel Art Association announced that nationally recognized John Cunningham will hold a special one man showing beginning today.

Cunningham will exhibit over twenty paintings in the Beardsley Room and Terrill and Linford's works will be displayed throughout the gallery.

John Cunningham, president and a director since 1940 of the Carmel Art Institute, was born in New Jersey in 1906 and studied at the University of California where he received his AB and MA in art. He continued his study at the University of Muchen (Germany) from 1931 to 1933.

Cunningham's very first one man show was at the M. H. de Young Museum in San Francisco. Subsequent shows throughout the country brought national acclaim for himself as well as Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Cunningham will display varied subjects but will feature a view of "Point Lobos."

Linford Donovan, who is greatly admired for his paintings of rugged characters, was born in Los Angeles where he studied at the University of California, earning his B.F.A. He went on to graduate study at the University of California at Berkeley and the University of Washington. He also studied privately with notable painters both here and abroad.

Donovan has a long list of one man shows in this country as well as Mexico, Nassau and Greece. She was awarded a number first places at the various shows.

She authored "How Linford Donovan Paints" and "Children Around the World," which will be released soon. She also illustrated the child's story "Moses."

Ardoth Terrill, the third member of the one man showings at the Association, will display many of her favorite paintings including "Restless Surf."

Ardoth received her education at Salinas Union High School, Hartnell Junior College, and Richard Stephens Academy of Advertising Art in San Francisco.

Her painting career began in 1958 with instruction taken at Diable Design Center at Danville, Carmel Art Institute, instructed by John and Pat Cunningham, and the AFS Work Shop.

Although she has not taken any first place awards, her ability has been noted, evidenced by the number of second places she has taken.

This promises to be an exciting show this month with the emphasis on marine scenes.

MONTEREY POP FESTIVAL READY TO SWING

To make sure that the Monterey International Pop Festival is a festival of youth as well as five-concert array of most of the best pop talent in the world, The Foundation has arranged to feature cheerfully decorated booths selling youthful things to the young in heart and demonstrating arts, crafts, and pop-oriented sciences.

Posters, pottery and sculpture, paintings and antiques, guitar workshop, East Indian dancing, and light-shows, books and buttons, beads and belts, happiness and sunshine — these are a few of the commodities planned over the three day Festival in Monterey on June 16, 17, 18.

The Festival fairgrounds are already equipped with permanent redwood booths as a basis for a colorful human collage of vendors and exhibitors and from all over California applicants are seeking accommodations on the grounds.

Because the 1960's boom in music BY the young FOR the young has attracted thousands of amateur musicians managed and directed by amateurs a "capability gap" has emerged. It isn't weakness of talent, inspiration or attitude, but a lack of experience, short knowledge of specifics, and an unawareness of pitfalls.

In an attempt to remedy this and to offer encouragement and opportunity to the newcomers on whom the continuing quality and prosperity of pop music depends, seminars and workshops will function during the Festival, during the daylight hours before and after the Saturday and Sunday afternoon concerts.

Proven guitar players and other musicians, experts in amplification and sound techniques, movie

Phyllis Jervey Back From Washington D.C.

Mrs. Phyllis Jervey, a resident of Carmel and author of the Pine Cone's "Party Plans", has just returned from a months' visit to Washington, D.C. where she stayed at the American Newspaper Women's Club. An Easter Journey to Otovale, Ecuador

by Louise Cardero Boyer

I had just arrived in Guayaquil on my first trip to South America. Outside the hotel stood two men. Their clean-cut smiling faces under black straight-brimmed felt hats, their long black braids neatly tied, heavy long ponchos (though this is a tropical city), their white cotton calf-length pants gave me my first sight of the characteristic and distinctive Indians of Otovale in the northern Andean area of Ecuador. There was something appealing about their combination of dignity, and willingness to bargain as they displayed their bright hand-woven articles.

Later we decided to visit Otovale at Eastertime. It is a four hour trip by the single gauge train from Quito. The train rocked through the verdant Andean country with its friendly passengers all prepared with lunches, but at every stop being offered new enticements — fruits, steaming ears of corn, potato cakes oozing stringy cheese.

When we arrived we asked about hotels, a town hotel we said. No tourists go there we were told. Since that was what we had hoped to find, willing boys carrying our bags led us to a pleasant building where we were shown a huge room with an elaborately panelled wall, small wash basin and pitcher, and at least three enormous beds.

It was Thursday and as evening approached we sought a restaurant. No menu was offered. Everyone except us knew, it seemed, that only "fanesca" was served for three days before Easter. Large plates of such a soup as we had never seen were brought to us. It was thick enough to cut and on the surface were laid slices of carrot, onion, bits of green leaves or a kind of parsley, and tomato, all beautifully arranged. "Fanesca" introduced us to Easter in Otovale—we were well acquainted with it by Saturday evening.

That evening we walked in the plaza, enjoyed the lovely little Otovale women in their embroidered blouses, long white wool underskirt, and overskirt of navy wool opening the length of one side prettily showing the white beneath. At the waist a colorful woven belt anchored everything. Various woven pieces of material tied up the hair, lay folded on the head, or held on the back the inevitable baby. All wore many strands of gold beads with a strand looped over the ears joining the cascade at the neck. Red coral beads formed bracelets three inches wide. Girls, from tiny ones up, were dressed exactly like their mothers. Boys were proud in their panchos of dark blue with the inner grey side folded over the shoulder, their neat braids and their black felt hats.

Early the next morning, Good Friday, an unidentifiable sound awakened me. I rushed to the window, folded back the shutters. Hundreds of Indians were hurrying past—the sound was of their bare and sandaled feet. Women carried huge amphora-like jars tied on their backs. I dressed swiftly and followed. After ten blocks or so all turned left, went another few blocks and a gate was before us. All were entering. Trying not to be conspicuous, I waited till a lull in the flow allowed me to slip through. It was a cemetery—a simple, natural place with shrubs, trees, long grass, a few low stone tombs, and simple little crosses. The hill was alive with movement and voices—the crowds had formed little groups all over the hill. Food was being prepared and eaten. These people had come this Good Friday to share breakfast with departed members of their families, and one suddenly knew that it was not a sad occasion. They had no feeling that life was over for those who had left them.

We went to bed early that night for we had been told that the Saturday wool market began at four a.m. In complete darkness we headed for the market. From every direction down the little mountain paths from their homes into the streets of the city came silent people carrying their wools. We reached the open place and with our eyes adapted to darkness became aware of a huge oval of Indians, completely immobile, hats shading dark faces to invisibility and a bundle folded at his feet. They appeared tall, majestic and mysterious. It grew gradually lighter and as if at a given signal, each man stooped and opened his bundle of that week's woven goods. Eager buyers bargained quietly, quickly—within two hours the activity had nearly ceased, buyers from every part of the continent and even England had disappeared.

Mrs. Beatrice Thayer Pittman has been elected president of the Christian Science denomination for the coming year. Monday, June 5th, about 8000 Christian Scientists, many from Carmel and distant parts of the world, filled the auditorium of The Mother Church Extension in Boston, Mass. and the adjoining original Church edifice. Closed-circuit television carried the meeting to an overflow audience seated in a nearby theater. The occasion was the Church's Annual Meeting. The members heard a call for sharply expanded outreach to the world and the community. The Board of Directors reminded the audience "Christ Jesus showed his deep involvement with the world of his day."

"WHITE HOUSE POTPOURRI"

While on a recent visit in Washington, Phyllis Jervey was fortunate to stay at the American Newspaper Women's Club. While there a fellow member of the Club, and a White House reporter for the Washington Post, Winzola McLendon obtained some intriguing recipes researched and served at the White House. The occasion was Mrs. Johnson's annual luncheon for U. S. Senate wives with Mrs. Eisenhower as guest of honor.

China from various administrations was used in the State dining room and for the first time dishes were served that were past presidents' choices.

White House Luncheon for Senate Ladies

Colonial Tomato Jelly
Virginia Ham Turnovers
Jefferson's Filled Pannecakes
Maryland Vegetable Bouquet
Jackson's Creme Brulee
Demi Tasse American Wines

Colonial Tomato Jelly

Two tbsps. gelatin (soak in 1/2 cup cold water 5 min.); 2 cups tomato juice; 1/2 tsp. chopped onion; 1 tsp. chopped parsley; 1 small piece lemon rind; 2 cups rich chicken stock; 2 tbsps. dry sherry; 1 tsp. lemon juice; salt and pepper to taste.

Bring to a boil tomato juice, onion, parsley, lemon rind and stock. Remove from heat and strain. Dissolve gelatin in hot mixture. Flavor with sherry, lemon juice, seasonings.

Pour into a wet mold. Chill until set and firm. Before serving break lightly with a fork. Serve in soup cups garnished with sour cream and chives. Serves 6.

Virginia Ham Turnovers

One lb. diced baked Virginia ham; 1/2 cup chopped onion; 1 tsp. chopped parsley; pinch of thyme; 1 tsp. butter; rich pastry dough (enough for a 2 crust pie).

Melt butter in heavy frying pan and add all other ingredients. Mix with just enough cream sauce to bind mixture together. Cut pie dough in 2 inch round; place a tsp. of ham mixture on one side of round. Fold top over and press edges together with a fork. Brush top with melted butter and bake at 350 F. until light brown. Makes 24 turnovers. These were served with the tomato jelly soup. They are fine as hors d'oeuvres with drinks.

Jefferson's Filled Pannecakes were delicate crepes made ahead and cooled then filled with creamed chicken and sliced sauteed fresh mushrooms, seasoned with dry sherry. These were rolled and placed in a large shallow baking dish and covered with half hollandaise and half cream sauce to which whipped cream was also added. Grated parmesan cheese was added last and the whole placed under broiler until browned and bubbly.

Maryland Vegetable Bouquet consisted of Bibb lettuce leaves arranged around a mound of fresh vegetables such as cold cooked asparagus whole spears, braised celery, whole string beans, fine slices of hearts of palm garnished with sliced pitted ripe olives, small strips of pimiento and grated hard cooked egg. A thick boiled dressing was used to bind the mound together. This was a separate cold course served with beaten biscuits.

Weinberger To Address GOP Women

Casper W. Weinberger, Chairman of the Commission on California State Government Organization and Economy ("Little Hoover Commission") will speak to the Carmel Women's Republican Club on Friday, June 16, 1967.

Mr. Weinberger, a 50 year old attorney and native of San Francisco, served six years in the Assembly of the California State Legislature (from 1952-1958).

He was selected as the most able member of the State Legislature at the end of the 1955 session in a poll taken of all the newspaper correspondents who covered the legislative session in California.

Mr. Weinberger will discuss his work with the "Little Hoover Commission" at the "al fresco" luncheon which will be held at the Del Monte Properties Valley Ranch (former Holt Ranch) in Carmel Valley.

There will be a social hour at 11:30 and luncheon at 12:30. The luncheon will be prepared by the chef at Del Monte Lodge. Reservations for the luncheon and requests for transportation may be made by June 13 to Mrs. Douglas Brown (624-2677), Mrs. John Schroeder (624-4861) or Mrs. Frank Bowman (624-7402).

Jackson's Creme Brulee

(Serves Six)

One pint (2 cups) light cream; 1/3 cup firmly packed brown sugar; pinch of salt; 7 egg yolks; 1 tbsp. sherry; 1/2 cup sliced toasted filberts (hazel nuts); brown sugar.

Scald cream with 1/3 cup brown sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Beat egg yolks with sherry. Gradually stir hot cream into egg yolks. Cook in double boiler, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens to consistency of medium cream sauce. Pour into 6 individual oven-proof dishes. Chill at least 12 hours. About 2 hours before serving, sprinkle top of cream with filberts which have been spread in shallow pan and placed in 400 F. oven about 15 minutes and stirred to prevent burning. Sift enough brown sugar over top of each dish to cover evenly about 1/4 inch thick. Make sure the surface is smooth. Broil 3 minutes, or until sugar melts and begins to brown. Watch carefully so that sugar does not burn. Chill until serving time.

The French drip coffee may be served in delicate porcelain demitasses or in the silver and glass containers shown in picture.

The White House serves only domestic American wines but even foreigners are enthusiastic about them. Lovely roses from the White House rose garden centered each round table of ten enchanted ladies.

Because beer is such a favorite with service men, we brewers like to do all we can to keep its surroundings right. So USBA representatives serve as adviser members of the Armed Forces Disciplinary Control Boards throughout the country.

These men from the USBA operate hand in hand with service and civilian police, with malt beverage licensees, public boards and committees: military, civil, professional. Object: to protect those who are underage, and to insure strict observance of the law.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

In February we received a book from McNaughton Services and the book passed almost unnoticed by the library staff. It is called The Thirty-First Floor and it was originally written in Swedish by Peter Wahloo. It begins almost as if it were a run-of-the-mill mystery and the reader might well ask himself why anyone bothered to translate it. It develops into a frightening situation set in a welfare state where all newspaper communication is geared to keeping people from any facts which might prove upsetting. And writers who do possibly upsetting writing are cornered and controlled. The underlying situation is ominous and the reader keeps thinking about freedom of the press and the right of any person to know the disagreeable facts of life and understand them. Call The Thirty-First Floor a light novel with a punch.

Gordon Baxter has done a book on Vietnam which he has called 13/13, VIETNAM: SEARCH AND DESTROY. We have two copies so that it may reach as wide a readership as possible. Baxter did both the pictures and the text, but Chet Huntley did an introduction. Baxter says, "This is not a Report on the War in Vietnam." It is a painfully accurate, close-up study, narrow in scope. Everything is here as it happened." The pictures are terrific. The text is clean-cut and concise. This is a book everyone should read.

By-LINE: ERNEST HEMINGWAY is a collection of articles and dispatches written over a period of four decades by the famous writer whom most of us think of as a novelist and short story writer. These pieces are grouped chronologically, all with that old magic that is Hemingway.

Richard O'Connor has done a book about Ambrose Bierce, who fought in the Civil War and after that lived for many years in San Francisco working for the San Francisco Examiner. There he was a great friend of George Sterling and Jack London, and probably spent many a happy holiday in Carmel with these two. Perhaps the most astonishing thing about the astounding life of Ambrose Bierce was his death. He disappeared into the Mexican desert sometime about January 1, 1914, and was never seen again. Many theories were advanced as to just what could have happened to him. None were ever proved. The title of the O'Connor book is AMBROSE BIERCE: A BIOGRAPHY.

Space travel and exploration has brought with it renewed speculation about life on other planets. Comes now a book by two scientists, one an Eussian, which is on this very subject. The authors are Shklovskii and Sagan. The title of the book is INTELLIGENT LIFE IN THE UNIVERSE. The illustrations are photographs, just the planets, not the little green men who inhabit them. This is not reading for casual browsing, this is for real.

Included in the weekly instructional sessions, beginning June 19, are such activities as tennis, swimming, riding, golf, sailing and nature and tide pool explorations.

The program will be held daily, Monday through Friday. Children will be divided into groups according to their abilities.

Further information on the program may be obtained by contacting Leary at 624-6055.

A history of baseball over its century long development is entitled AMERICAN BASEBALL, FROM GENTLEMAN'S SPORT TO THE COMMISSIONER SYSTEM. The baseball season is now. Between games you might like to read about the game itself and all the famous players who made baseball history over the years.

The summer reading program for the younger patrons is about to begin. Once again we are having our popular Beachcombers Club. This is the third summer we have had this particular club and children who have been enrolled for the other two summers have built up an enviable collection of shells and information about the sea. This is the type of club in which continued membership is an advantage because it enables the member to enlarge his specimen collection. Encourage your young one to enroll and enjoy his summer membership.

The Complete Gardener

... a regular diet of information having to do with plants

Summer came suddenly to the Central Coast and, with the hot weather, our mail bag showered us with a variety of questions. A reader asks us about pruning her azaleas and rhododendrons. These plants should be pruned only as necessary to shape them if they're becoming leggy. In this case cut back rhododendrons about one-third to vigorous growth. After blooming, azaleas can be sheared slightly. Camellias, too, can be snipped back to new growth. This is the time to feed these plants with cottonseed meal, then mulch with fir bark to keep the roots cool and moist.

Another lady asks what soil is best for bougainvilleas. These vines thrive in any normal soil but do better when humus is worked in. Blue planting tablets inserted around the trunk will promote the desired lush growth and improve the blooming habits. Full sun is necessary. "What flowers are most attractive to hummingbirds?" asked another. Fuchsias, especially the red varieties, pale blue delphiniums, and fox-gloves.

"When should I dig up my daffodil bulbs?" Leave them in the ground, if you wish, unless you want to divide the clumps. When the tops have died back the bulbs are ripe and may be stored in a cool, dry place. A Carmel Valley man wonders "What are moles looking for in my lawn. How do I get rid of them?" Whereas gophers are vegetarians, moles search for worms and soil insects. Nothing replaces a good trap in controlling moles. Then there's the garden hose, hooked to your car's exhaust pipe and the fumes forced into the mole's burrow. Considerable success has been reported by using heavy applications of castor bean meal in the infested areas, and they also can be driven away by placing mothballs or miner's lamp (carbide) in their runs.

Finally we take up a query wanting to know if it's too late to do any pruning. Whereas most heavy pruning is done during the dormant season there are certain exceptions. Now that the sap is up light pruning of trees can be accomplished. Wounds should be sealed. Any branches which are not producing leaves by now can be considered dead and should be removed. Lilacs and other spring-flowering shrubs can be pruned following the bloom, then fed. All clusters of dead flowers should come off. Hedges can be clipped now. In general, all of your pruning jobs can be completed in June so that fresh, new growth can form during the summer. Your lively interest in this column is appreciated, and again we welcome your comments and questions. Next week we'll tell you how to prepare your roses for exhibition.

Julia Parks

Unusual Art Library Building At Stevenson

Over the past few years, as the "Stevensonia" collection has been growing, the Art Department has also been quietly adding unusual volumes to its "Library," giving the school two collections of immense value to the community and for the new school library now on the drawing boards.

As the library building comes into focus, and the dream becomes a reality in the near future, the art collection of books, prints, sculpture, paintings, and student drawings has been growing in both quality and quantity.

Some of the paintings on hand include: an original by Samuel F. B. Morse; a magnificent oil of the ship "Casco" under sail for the South Seas painted and donated by noted local ships' artist Hans Skaalegaard; and a series of 12 campus scenes in "Mediterranean-style" by the highly respected campus artist-in-residence, Richard Pearsall. In addition to his paintings, Pearsall is a great historian of the arts, and has carefully "nurtured" the growing library.

"Surprisingly enough," says art-historian Pearsall, "we are now searching for full or partial catalogues of world famous galleries, such as the Louvre, the Uffizi, the Pitti, the Accademia, or any other outstanding galleries in the world. These are invaluable in our teaching."

Among those giving generously to the art library are Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. James, who not only have included books but an unusual 400 year old Chinese painting that hangs in Reid Hall. John Boit Morse's contribution of classical busts, figures, and ecorches, have been most welcome for still life classes. Others of special mention include:

Mr. & Mrs. Robert D. Kelley, Mr. & Mrs. Hans Von Richter, Mrs. Gray Wornum, Mrs. Grace Ridgway, Mr. Lee Ross, Mr. Don Stillwell, Mr. Mark Pomeroy, Mr. & Mrs. George M. Mardikian, Dr. & Mrs. Irvin Gardner, Mr. & Mrs. E. H. Bouhaben, Admiral & Mrs. Hugh Goodwin.

Proudest in the collection are four volumes of "Great Drawings of All Times," 3 volumes of "L'Oeuvre Grave de Rembrandt" and "The Works of Michelangelo."

Mr. Pearsall welcomes any books, catalogues, clippings, etchings, sketches, books on armour, tapestries, sculpture, photographs of works of art, or magazine subscriptions that parents or friends might be willing to present to the Art Department. He carefully indexes each item and is preparing a full viewing "studio" and research room in the new library.

Chess: The chess team ended its first "season" with Captain Bill Kondrat leading the team in victories at the first annual Junior Rating Chess tournament held in the Monterey Youth Center. Willis Cook, Pete Funsten, Chris Wentworth and Jim Costello also competed in several matches, with Cook and Funsten both being rated at the Junior tournament. This "intellectual" sport is growing in popularity on the campus, and a full team will be "fielded" next year.

Unsung Hero's: "Chief" Fred Manning, Captain of the fire marshalls on campus, had praise for the fine work done this year by each dorm Marshall. Larry Kuechler, in senior, Claude Wynn in Junior, Steve Dart in Sophomore and Richard Miller in Freshman. During fire drills these boys are responsible for quick clearance (60 seconds or less) of each dorm, of taking roll, and of signalling the all-clear. This is an important, but seldom mentioned function of campus activities and they all deserve a note of thanks for their quiet, and efficient contribution to Stevenson life.

Unusual Trip: Some 36 juniors

Queen Contest

"We are looking for a girl who represents Carmel and for what it stands." This was a remark from Carmel Fire Department Club Chairman Jake May, as a committee of firemen and their wives will begin sifting through Queen Contestant entries after the deadline of June 15.

The girl chosen will be crowned Miss Carmel Fire Department 1967 during the department's 3rd Annual Hose Cart Race and festivities to be held July 15. The event will begin with the hose cart race and end with a dance and barbecue.

More than 75 prizes donated by The Carmel Business Association will be awarded the Queen and her Court and any girl who applies. May emphasize that the contest is not a talent or swim suit contest. Primary judging will be made on the basis of poise, background, and photogenic qualities.

The final five girls will be interviewed and selected by a committee of Carmel's outstanding citizens.

Girls desiring to enter the contest may obtain their entry blank at the Carmel Fire Department Monday through Saturday from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

Contestants must be at least 18 years old and should either reside or work in Carmel. This rule is only waived for a contestant whose residence is out of the County or State but who is a college student living in Carmel at the time of the contest.

and seniors had a recent opportunity to visit the Vallecitos site (near Livermore) of the General Electric Nuclear Energy Division. All were members of the five chemistry classes of Mr. Bowhay, Mrs. Kalmback and Mr. Gordon. In addition to the tour, there were lectures on the workings of reactors, demonstrations of the "master-slave" manipulators and on the uses of materials in industrial chemistry and Metallurgy. Like many of the field trips planned throughout the year this program was of unusual interest among the students.

Phelps Rides: While his fellow seniors will be receiving their diplomas this Friday, Mason Phelps will be doing a different kind of graduation, as he "gradually" nears the top in his quest for Olympic Team membership. He is now at the Olympic Training Center in Gladstone, New Jersey, where he will enter two tournaments, one in June and one in July, in preparation for the Pan-American games this summer in Canada. This training and competition will continue for Mason until October, 1968 when he hopes to compete for the United States in the Olympics. He has three horses, "Gladstone," (his favorite) "The Devil," and "Footlight Jack." He will attend Fairleigh Dickinson Discussing a model of Community Hospital as it will look when expanded are Mrs. John M. Marble, vice president of the Board of Trustees of Community Hospital, and John R. Williams, assistant administrator of the hospital. Williams just presented Mrs. Marble with a $50,000 pledge from the 250 employees of the hospital for the Project '69 building fund.

University in Madison, New Jersey, to be near his training program. Our congratulations to this year's FIRST graduate, and all our best wishes, Mason.

KINDERGARTEN CHILDREN GET SPECIAL ATTENTION

The Kindergarten children of Mrs. Marcia De Voe's classes this year at River school have had the opportunity to learn about the peoples of the world at first hand.

Many of the members of her classes are of foreign background and many of their parents have presented materials and information to the children at specially arranged programs during class time.

The first to visit was Mr. Gordon Robertson from Edinburgh, Scotland (shown here in a kilt) who has a son Mark in kindergarten and is the owner of the Scottish Shop. He wore his kilt and brought bagpipes, which fascinated his audience.

Another speaker was Mr. Rashad Roohi, instructor in Persian at the Defense Language Institute who is from Iran and whose daughter Julie was most proud of him. He brought beautiful Persian rugs as part of his talk.

Mrs. Rolf Pedersen, whose husband is an officer in the Norwegian Navy and a student at the U. S. Navy Post Graduate school, brought things from Norway and also from Denmark, the country where she was born. Lisa, who is in the kindergarten, and her younger sister Bente, were in one of the native costumes of Norway.

Mr. Alv Brede, owner of the Swedish restaurant, provided a wonderful 16mm film called "Fjord Paradise" that was filmed in his native town of Gjørvic, Norway.

Still slated to finish out the year is a talk by Mrs. Richard Comings & Mrs. Sidney Burch on Germany plus another on Greece by Mr. George Tsantes.

THE ORIGINAL OWNERS THOUGHT OF EVERYTHING! FIRST, they chose a site with a woodsy (but sunny) outlook and cul-de-sac seclusion. THEN they planned their retirement home to include the many special features that accommodated their interests... a studio with a variety of uses; a garage with ample room for a workshop; two bedrooms and two baths with plans available for a third bedroom; country-type kitchen and dining area; large living room with a raised-hearth fireplace and glass doors; central heating system with summer switch; stereo system (includes the studio); complete fencing; outside lighting; central vacuum system; electric garage doors with remote control; and a floor plan to take advantage of a 200-degree view yet provide for privacy. AND THEN they chose Comstock Associates to construct their home in 1957. Since their occupancy they have planted a collection of conifers from all over California and preserved the bird and wildlife that abounds in their area. Most worthy of inspection at $47,000.

A NEW LISTING: Situated in an area of Carmel where the "natives" claim the temperature is the warmest by several degrees, this VERY COMFORTABLE home features a spacious living room with "open" ceiling and an outlook into a stone patio centered by a pleasing live oak; two bedrooms (accommodate twin beds); a bath with a ceramic tiling; a large dining area with patio access and a cheerful kitchen which includes range and refrigerator. In immaculate condition, the property represents good value at its listing price of $32,500.

ONLY $30,000 FOR A RANCH-TYPE HOME IN CARMEL HILLS: with a rustic setting among native trees and shrubs plus a fern-planted rock retaining wall, this original owner's home provides quiet and seclusion from traffic. Its LARGE living room provides window walls that bring the woodsy outdoors indoors. Two bedrooms, two baths and a compact kitchen that can be enlarged to incorporate a laundry area and part of the second patio for dining, combine to make this a comfortable home. New central heating, a double carport and ample storage areas are other attractive features. Exclusive Listing.

RANCHO RIO VISTA BUILDING SITES: We have FIVE choice lots ranging from one acre to over three acres in size... we can discuss terms for some of these and subdividing for the largest!

A FRIENDLY FAMILY HOME

Enter the handsome garden gate and find a sunny, completely enclosed, surfaced yard where your children can play safely and happily under beautiful trees, away from traffic, yet within easy walking distance to all schools.

The architecture of the comfortable looking home is California ranch, with heavy shake roof and lots of old brick to contrast with the painted redwood exterior. The interior is plastered, heat is forced air, floors are hardwood. Age is perhaps 12 years.

Inside, you'll find a living room overlooking the front garden, a dining room with front and rear patio views, 4 bedrooms and a study, or 5 bedrooms, if you choose. The garage has been turned into a working artist's studio, but it's easily reconverted.

The price is just $47,500 for this unusually handsome corner property in Carmel's sunniest area—and it's most convenient for family living because of its easy proximity to schools, shopping, churches, and Peninsula points of interest. May we show you this fine home? It's such a pleasure!

WE BELIEVE THAT WE OFFER the best 3-bedroom, 2-bath family home available in Carmel. It's located on a fine corner lot handy to town and schools, and has a patio for sunning and play space for the kids. The kitchen is modern in every respect, the family-dining room opens conveniently off the kitchen, and the carpeting is new. There are 1400 square feet here and you can't match it for $31,500. Ask your broker to show you Carmel Multiple #2072, or we'd be delighted to do so.

A DOUBLE LOT SOUTH OF OCEAN and near the beach—an older 3-bedroom, 2-bath home with detached studio and bath—new carpeting and drapes—the land value rapidly approaching the asking price. This opportunity we offer at $39,500. Or we lease it if you wish.

TEERING OFF with Bill O'Malley

"HELLO, AAA? I'M OUT ON THE FIFTH FAIRWAY AT THE COUNTRY CLUB...."

"Project No Dough"

Entertaining the members of the Carmel Business Association with a talk about how she travelled for a full month around the country with no money will be Ann Foley, featured in many magazines and newspapers.

At the meeting on June 15 at the Holiday Inn at the mouth of the Carmel Valley, Miss Foley will relate her story about how she used a BankAmericard instead of cash. She bought groceries, clothing, shoes, gifts, theatre tickets and even a new blond wig.

She rented a car and traveled around the state, visiting the major cities of California, spending a day at Disneyland, and doing just about everything she could think of at the time. Of course she had her problems. Miss Foley was not able to pay for toll bridge fees with her credit card . . . or . . . city buses . . . or . . . soft drinks out of a vending machine . . . or any number of other items. She will share all her experiences with the Association members the 15th.

She will also relate how she got into a couple of jams, but was able to pull through by her own ingenuity.

Also at the meeting will be a steak dinner at 7:30 with cocktails being served at 6:30. Those who are not yet members of the Carmel Business Association are welcome to come to get acquainted at this quarterly meeting. Kay Scott, executive secretary, encourages everyone to bring their husbands or wives, and to make reservations and send checks in before June 13. For further information, call 624-2522 or write P. O. Box 4444.

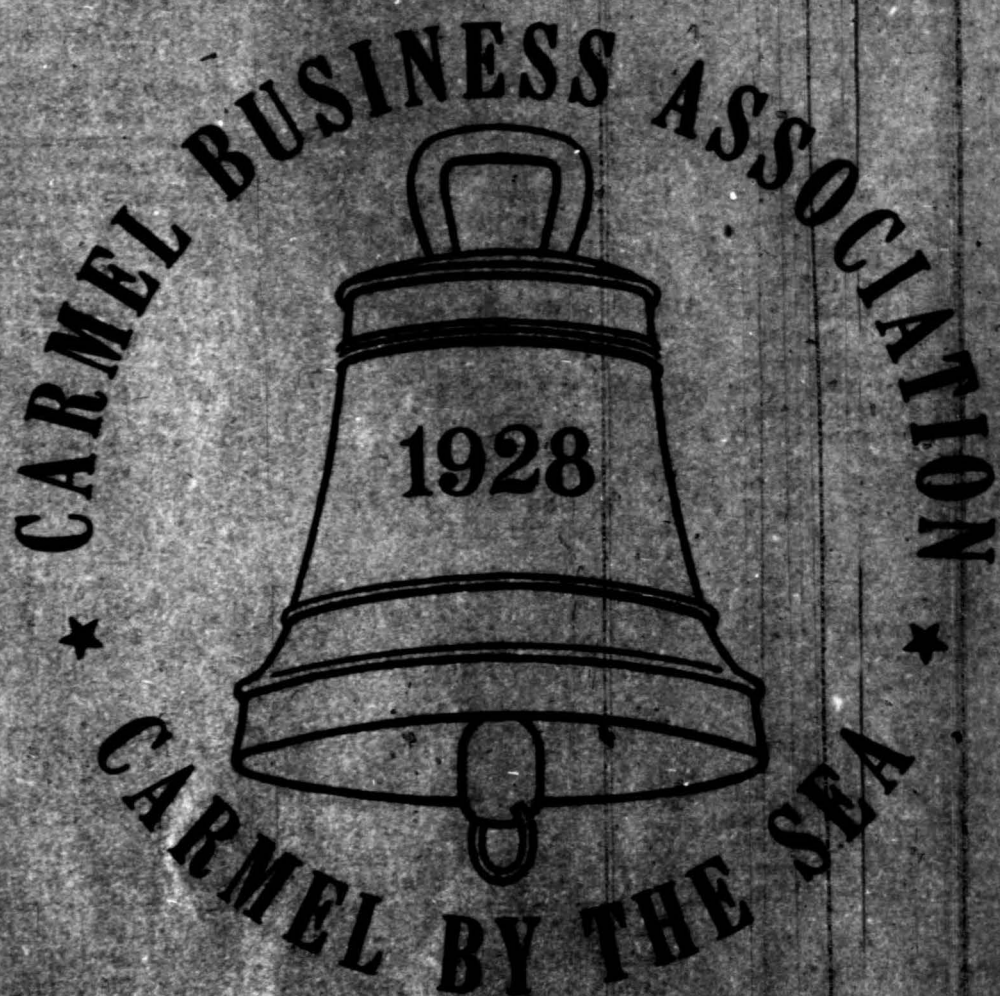

Ann Foley will be guest speaker at Business Association meeting.

New members of the Association are: Book Worm, Ruth Buol Handcraft Enamels, Carmel Art Association, Butler's Pantry, Carmel Creamery, Carmel Valley Inn, Cottage of Sweets, Del Dono Court, Del Mesa Carmel, Dooley Gallery, Edy's at the Plaza, Ewig's of Carmel, Flair, Footlights and Fancy, Friar Tuck Book Shop, John Garbale, Holiday Inn, Horne Galleries.

"THE FIRST CALL . . .

About the guest cottage I advertised in the Pine Cone Classified section came almost before the paper was out," said Mrs. Gladys Anderson. "The caller, a good tenant, took it, but I had many responses and many disappointed callers."
